Debut Films

Debut is an independent production company based in Barcelona, founded by Gema Arquero, which was born from the need to give voice to close creators and accompany them from the margins towards the film industry.

Debut focuses on producing fiction projects considered, many times, on the fringes of the industry: for being debut films and for being directed or led by women or LGTBIQ+ people.

Debut prioritizes diverse narratives and focus, above all, on the queer community. However, Debut wants to transcend the LGTBIQ+ niche and reach out to other audiences, proving that these voices also have a place and interest to a broader audience.

We have two other feature films in progress. In these two cases we are looking for another international co-producer to help us complete the financing with their creative, technical and financial contributions.
